Knowledge Alone Will Not Bring Peace to Men

It must be permeated with a Christ-like love for one's fellowman

Two years ago in our yearbook we spoke about the need for Christian unity and that it could only be achieved through Christian charity. In the short space of time that has elasped since then, great changes have taken place. Khruschev has been replaced, new nations have emerged in Africa and the Far East, the war still continues in Viet Nam, the Berlin Wall still stands, racial riots have become more violent in our nation. Great strides have been made in the field of science, culminated in the Gemini orbiting of the world. With this great increase in knowledge, it would seem that we would be better men, greater nations. With this great step forward in the field of discovery, one would think that this increase in knowledge – this challenge to our minds – would cause us to realize just how little we know and how much is yet undiscovered, not only in the field of science, but also in the area of human relations. However, our problems – personal, national and international – have become more complex. And why? Because, in many cases, this tremendous surge in learning has not been tempered with Christian charity – love of God and man. With knowledge comes understanding, but love of one's fellowman can come about through love of God, Knowledge Itself

Gemini–The Twins of Educational Developmen

Knowledge without loyalty is ste

In the years since St. Francis de Sales High School was founded in 1955, it has given to the world a number of excellent young men. They are well trained academically, athletically, religiously, and socially and they easily adapt themselves to the higher academic atmosphere into which many of them move. In these respects, they are no different from thousands of other high school graduates the world over. But there is something that makes them stand out, makes them unique. First, it is their quest for knowledge, and understanding of the fact that knowledge is a challenge to men's minds; that new discoveries lead to a realization that much is yet undiscovered. Second, it is the spirit of St. Francis.

For the essence of an institution is the spirit of those who compose it and at St. Francis, school spirit is a living force. It is a sentiment shared by all those who have ever been Knights and it is probably the single most lasting mark of our Salesian education.

For all this, however, the spirit of St. Francis is a difficult thing to define. No accurate expression for it can ever come from an outside observer for his view must necessarily be restricted to a single field of endeavor. One must be a part of it to be able to define it in depth. The spirit of St. Francis is a Tradition of Honor.

This Tradition of Honor, this school spirit of ours, is probably most obvious in the field of athletics. It spurs our athletes to superlative efforts. It binds the members of the student body together in a positive force for support. It melds the thoughts and desires of individual athletes with those of their fellow students and the result is an overpowering unity of purpose – Victory with Honor.

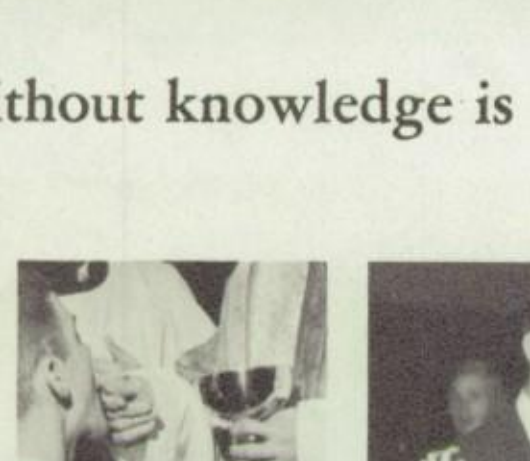
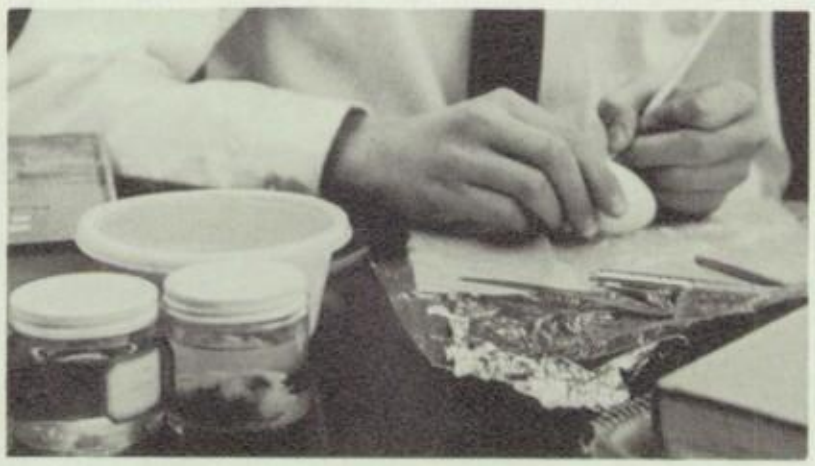
In academics, our Tradition of Honor is widely recognized. The will to live up to his scholastic capacity is inculcated in the freshman and is never diminished. Through four years, the Knight strives for excellence in his studies and finds his reward in the respect and admiration of his classmates. Scholastic honors are published on a quarterly basis and awarded to the deserving annually at the Honors Convocation.

For the Tradition of Honor is really the spirit of our patron, St. Francis de Sales, and his motto, SUAVITER ET FORTITER, is truly ours.

Are Knowledge and Loyalty

loyalty without knowledge is unguided





Man's spirit soars in search of the ultimate

Spiritual Men, Always in Search of Knowledg

Men of religion

use knowledge and love

as a means of bringing men closer to God

What is man's destiny? This has ever been a challenge to men's minds, particularly to men of learning who, because of intellectual curiosity, seek the answer to the most important question of life – who am I, what am I doing, where am I going? St. Augustine asked himself this question and his answer was, "Thou hast made us for Thyself, O Lord, and our hearts will not rest until they rest in Thee." The quest for truth is only found in Truth Itself – God.

The men on these pages are men who understand the meaning of knowledge in relation to men's lives. More than that, they know that knowledge alone is not sufficient in reaching our eternal destiny. What one knows regarding his eternal salvation must become part and parcel of his way of life. Our religious superiors, by their dedicated lives become for us a source of encouragement.

Every Institution I

When we study the history of any nation we are quite often impressed with the fact that the progress and destiny of that country can be attributed to one man in particular. One man, by his knowledge, wisdom and personality fashions the destiny of that country. In our present generation we have seen Churchill, Nassar, DeGaulle, Sukarno. In the business world we have seen such men as Rockerfeller and Ford. So, too, with Father Shugrue. By his continual search for knowledge and concern for our future, our principal has led St. Francis to even greater heights. He has committed the school to excellence in intellectual pursuits, sports, social endeavors and, what is most important, an acute awareness of our eternal destiny. He knows that the mystery of knowledge is the challenge to men's minds.

Students Delve into Mysteries

Secrets of universe and mankind

gradually unfold under guidance of faculty

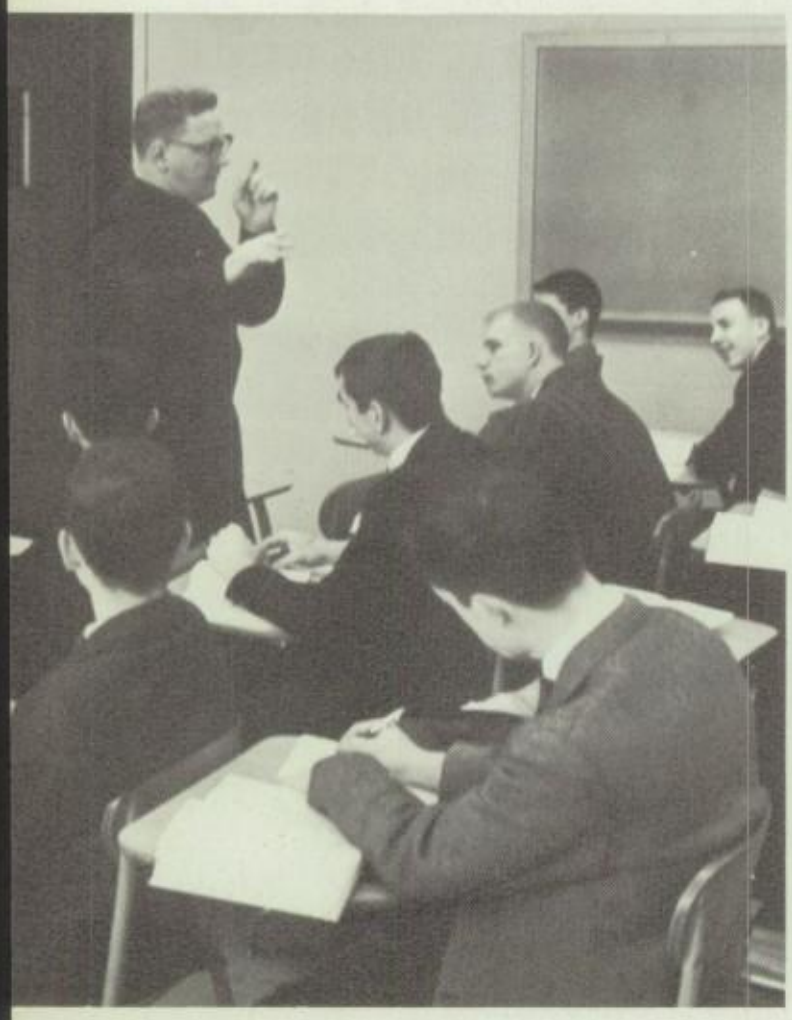
Why climb a mountain? Answer — because it is there. Why solve a riddle? Answer — because it is a riddle.

We humans all share one thing in common. Whoever we might be, whenever we see a curtain we automatically ask ourselves, "What's behind that curtain?" Our world is familiar with curtains: iron curtains and bamboo curtains, yet even though the importance of these ideological and political curtains cannot be minimized, what are the really important curtains? They are those behind which are hidden the mysteries of our world, the swirling atoms and galaxies, the silence of space and the ocean depths, the mystery of life, of complicated molecules, of trilobites, dinosaurs and puppy dogs, the mystery of mysteries, man and the reason of his being and his destiny, and the Ultimate — God.

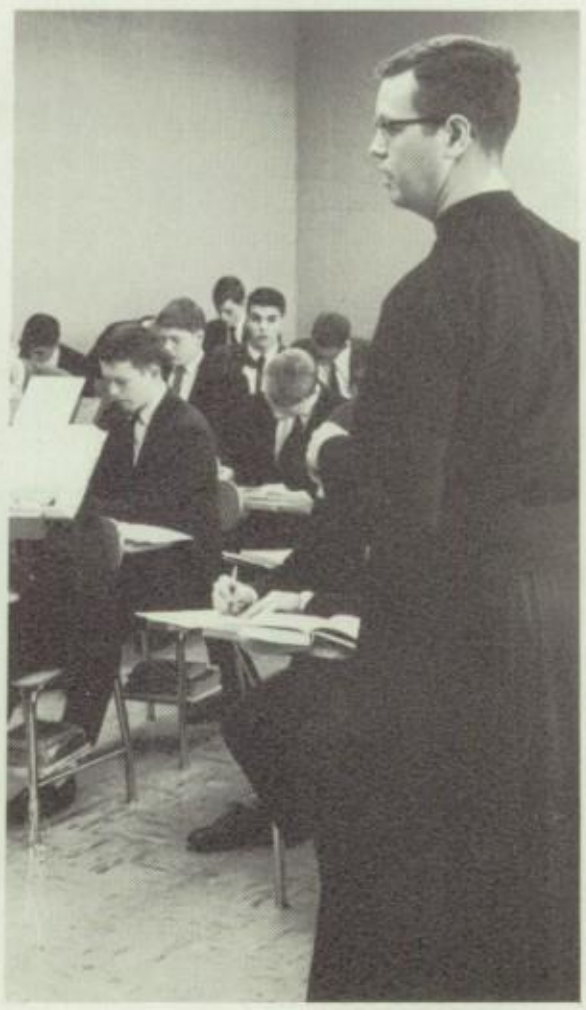
Basically, our philosophy of education at St. Francis DeSales High School is just to pull back the curtains. We use technical tools such as television, overhead projectors and language laboratories. We pursue advanced science courses and foreign study programs, but most of all we try to excite young minds to wonder why!

Future Engineers Learn Drafting

The dramatic gestures of Father Fitzpatrick lend interest to his French class.



A view from the blackboard–Father Finn lectures in Latin class.



Questions are always asked in Father McMenamim's class. Tim Leonard wishes Father to clear up a point for him. John Heffern is in the background.

Great scientists need assistants. Bill Greene helps Father Schings during a physics demonstration.

Oblivious of what is going on, Frank Baker, Steve Kolinski, Jim Lareau, Tim Leonard, Dennis Bensch and Jim Black are intense on a difficult drafting problem.

Advanced Chemistry students Bill Carroll and Bill Schoen do research in bacteriology after school.

Experiments

The guidance department's doors are always open. Father Brennan with Mr. William Carroll, assistant in guidance, discusses colleges with Bob Faught.

A ribbing of one of the students by Father Kenney draws a laugh from the rest of the Church History class.

New Books always present problems a librarian—where to put them. Br ther McCabe points out new arriva to John LaVoy.

This is what a worm would see if it could get into Fathe Diekman's Latin Two class.

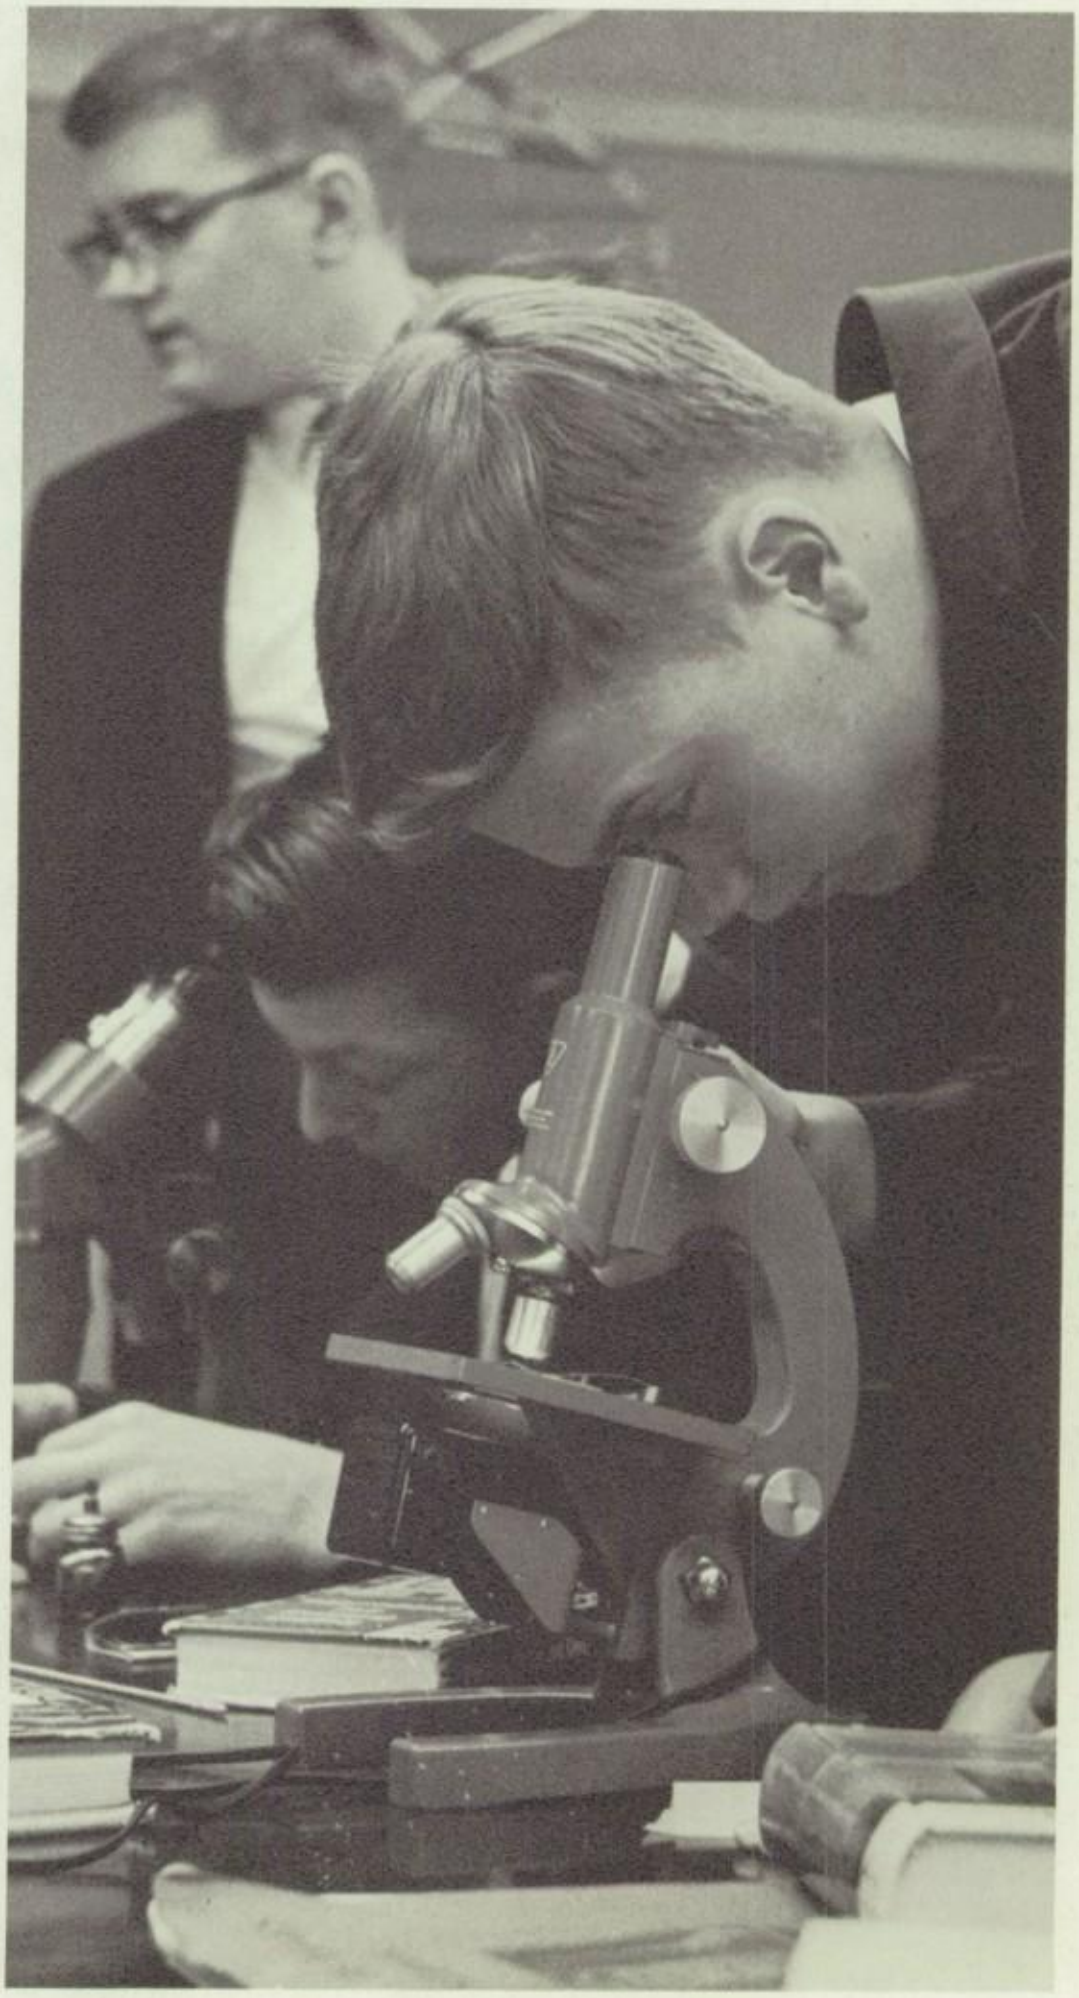
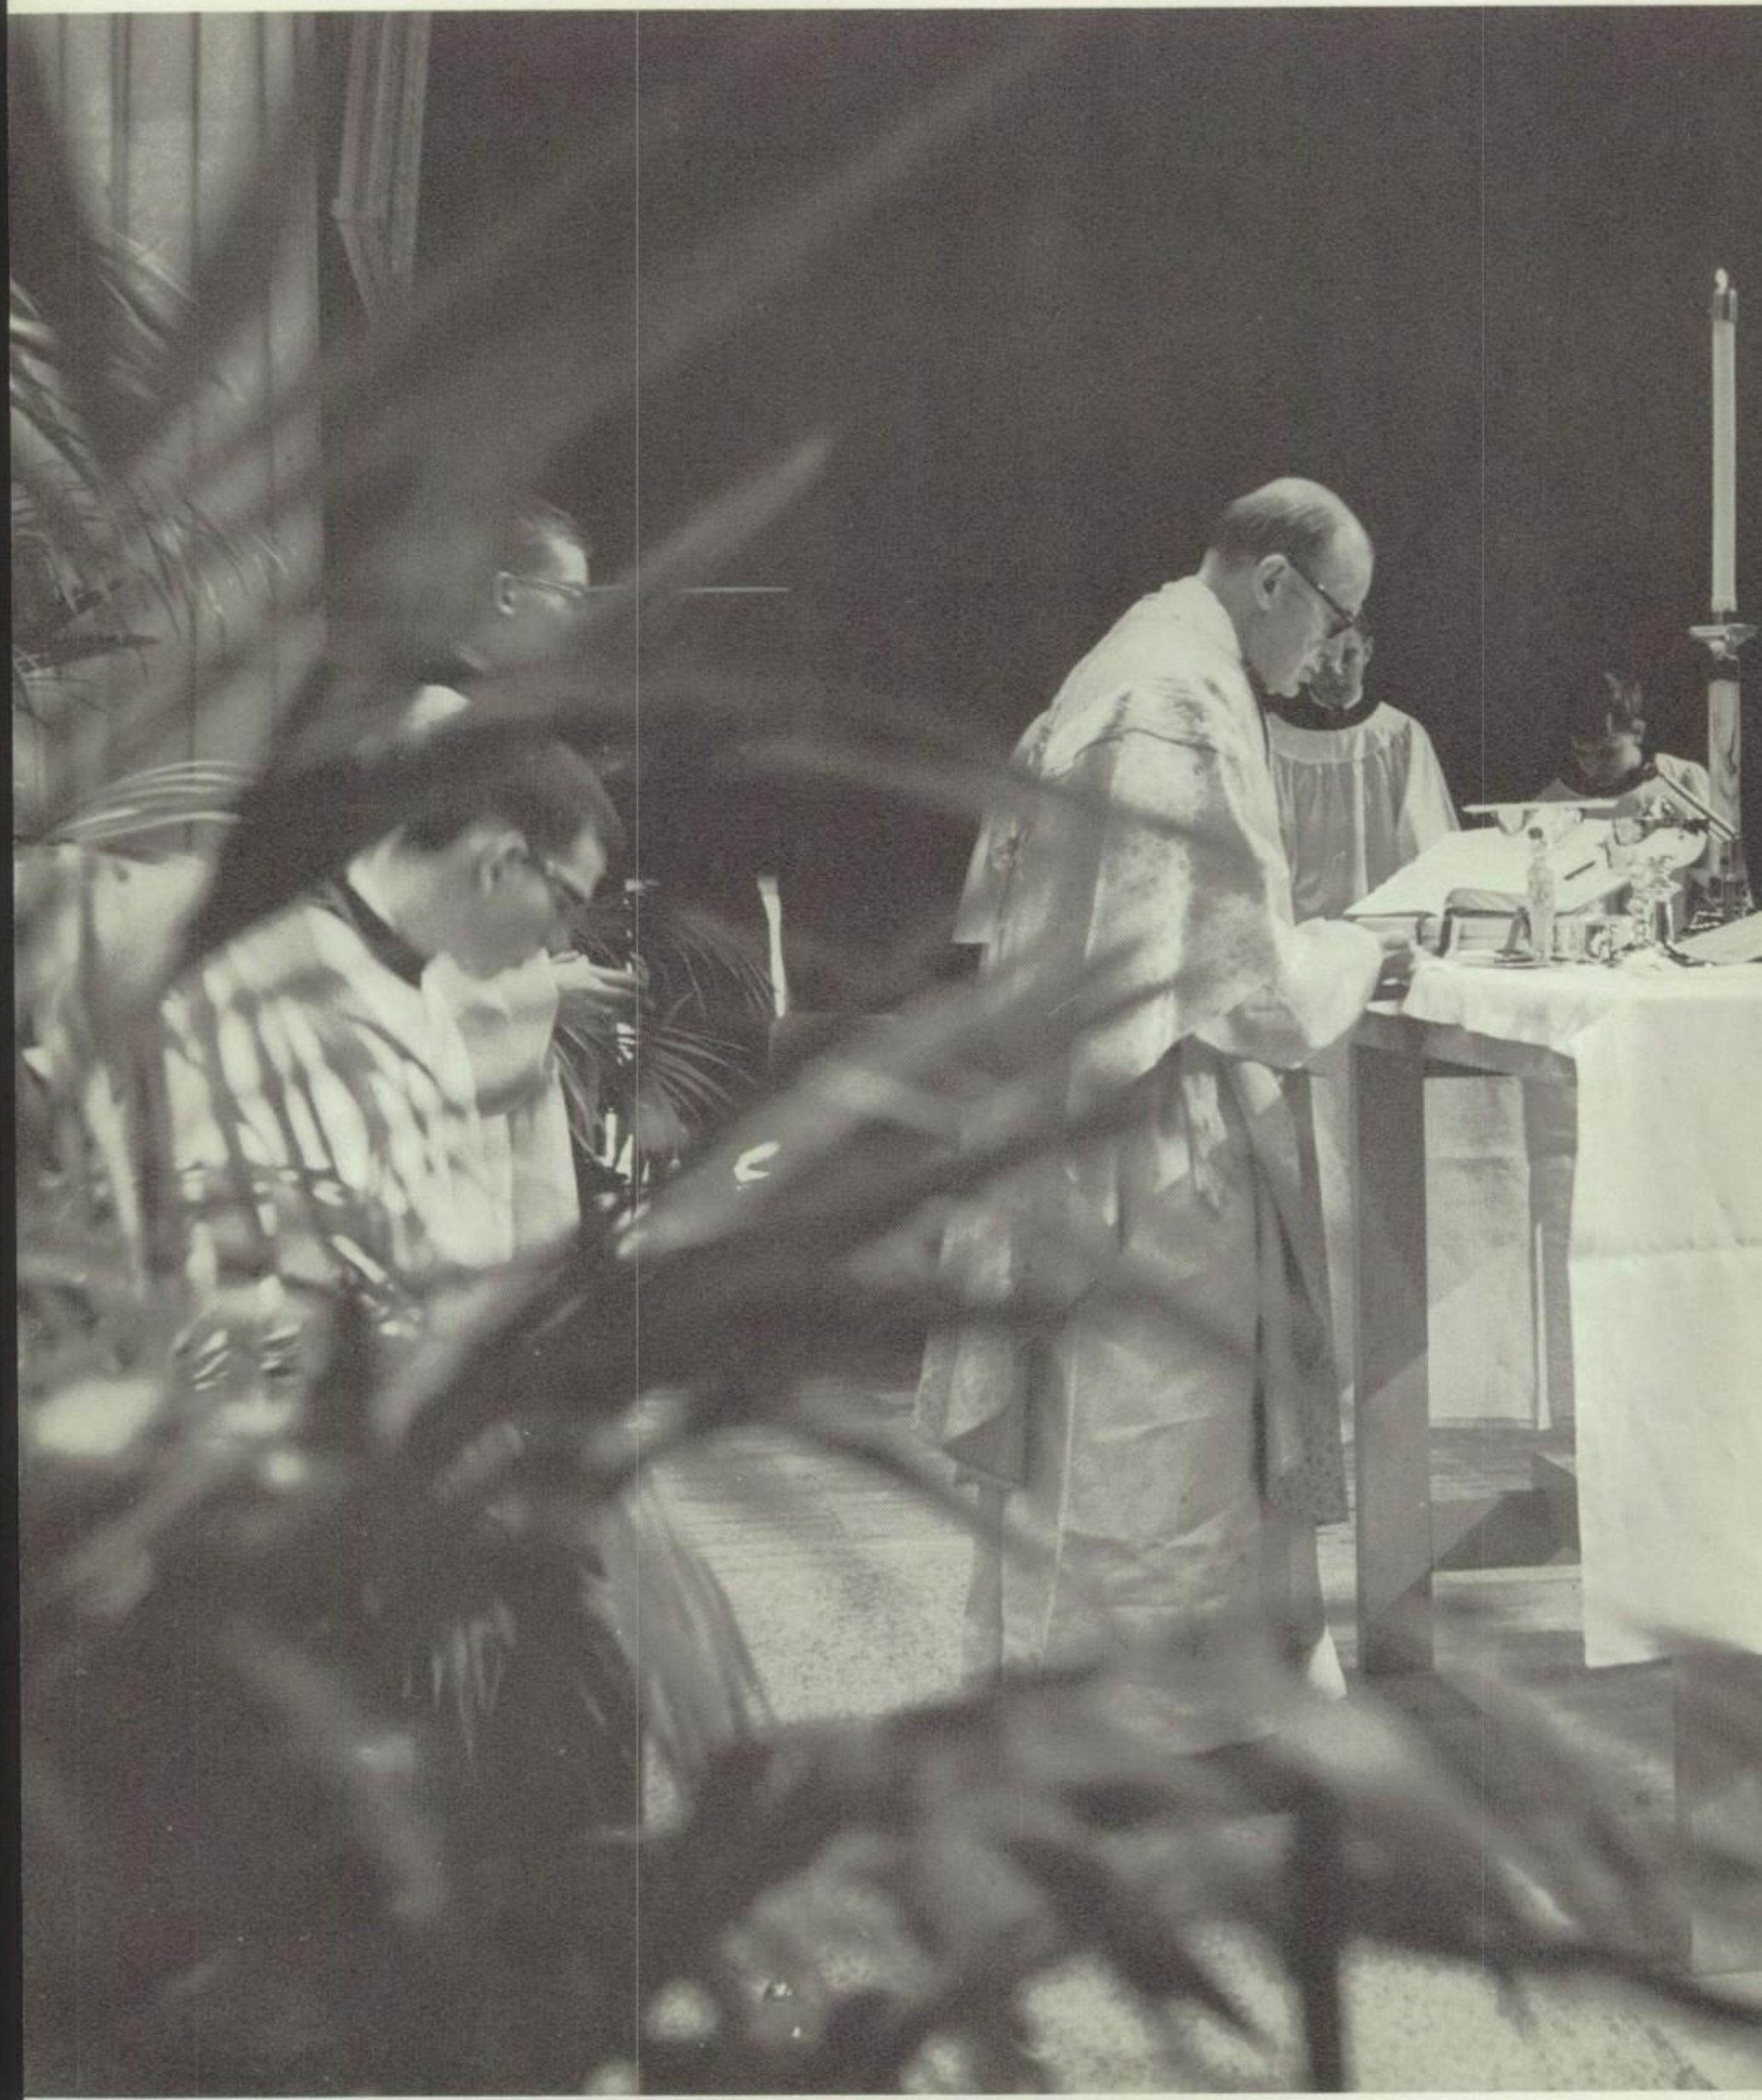
Students flock to the biology lab after school to work on their own experiments. Some of these are: Don Haltman, John Carroll and Steve Connor working on blood.

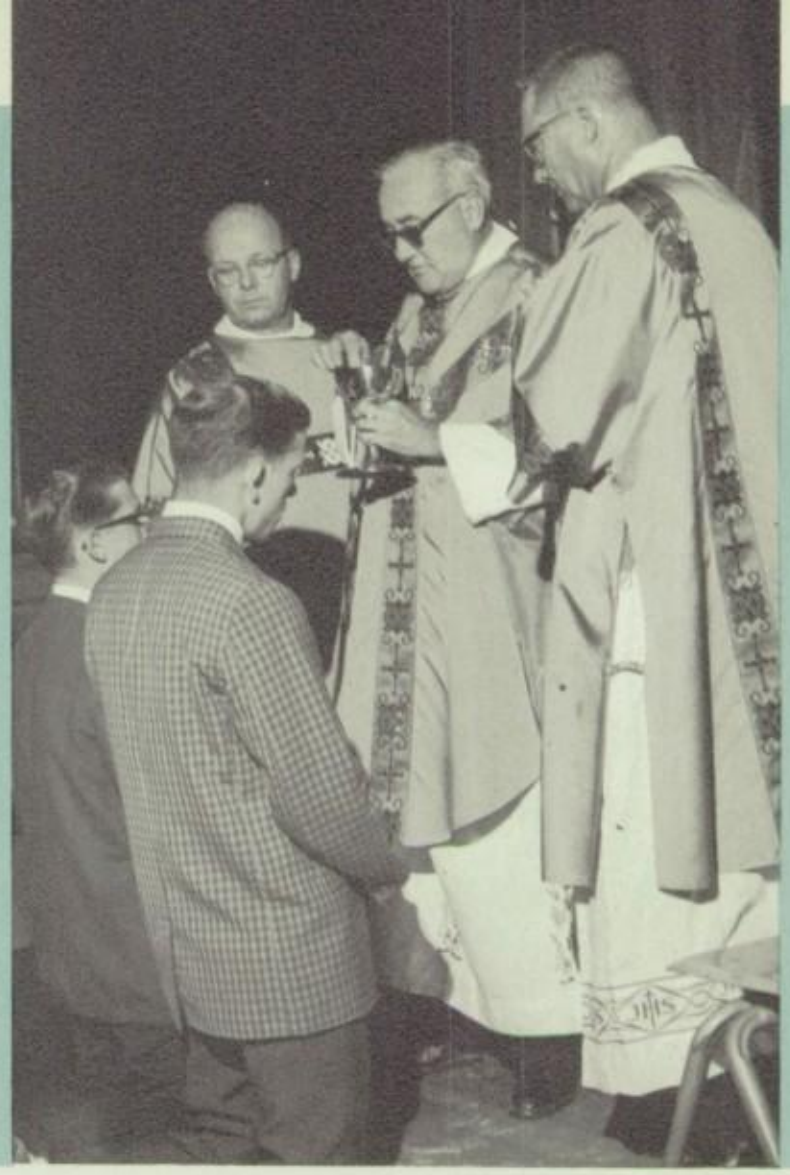




In seeking the answers to the mysteries of life we must necessarily delve into the mysteries of eternal life and, therefore, religion. However, it is not sufficient to seek the answers to one's obligation to God, but what is most important is that we live those answers. In other words, religion must be a way of life. Our life must revolve around that of Christ.

Our Oblate teachers are most conscious of this obligation. The Oblate way of life, the Salesian spirit, is what makes our school, our traditions different from that of other schools. Our religion must become part of our way of life in the light and spirit of St. Francis de Sales. This is what makes our school unique.

From the first day, when as freshmen, we attended the mass of the Holy Spirit, our lives have bustled with religious activity. We have daily confessions and Mass, Stations of the Cross during Lent, Benediction in May and October. The highlight of the spiritual side of our lives is reached with our annual retreat.



At opening Mass of year, Father Shugrue is assisted by Father Kenney and Father Brennan. Holy Communion is distributed to Jim Witker.

On the feast of St. Francis De Sales, Father Knebels says Mass for student body in conformance with the new liturgy.

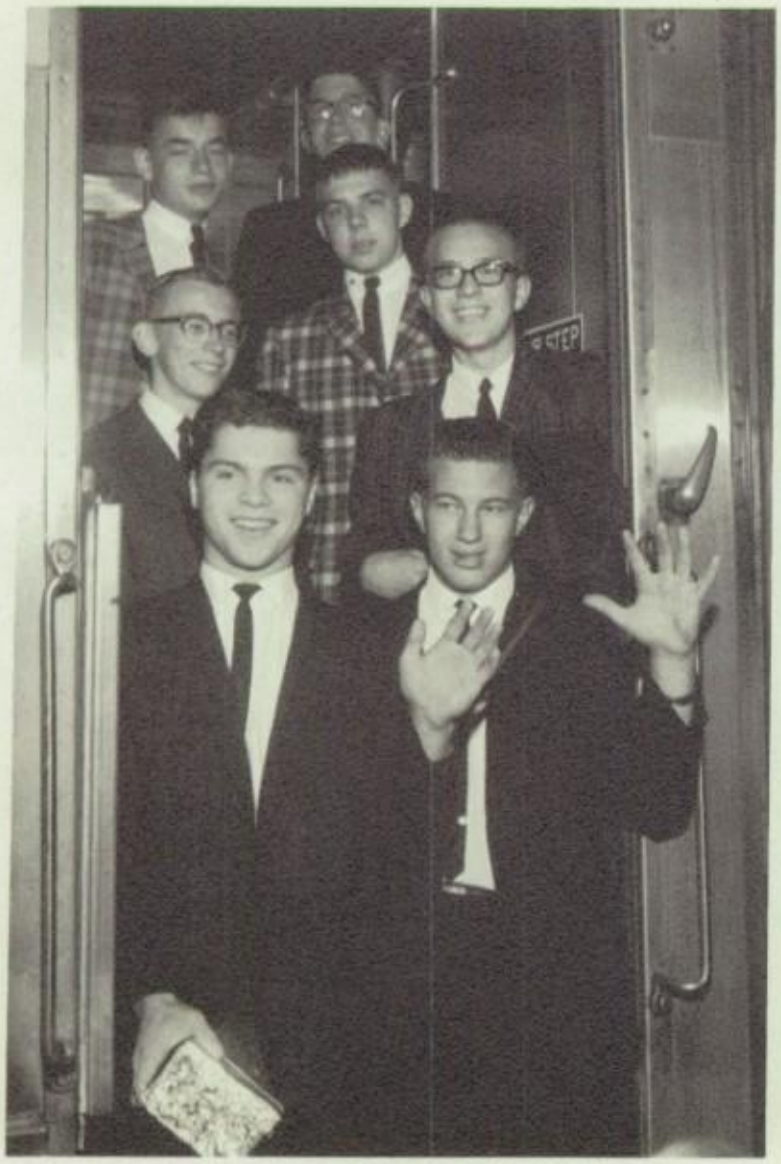
Gives Our Exchange Students Rousing Send-off

Parents and relatives bid farewell to students leaving for study in France and Germany



Waving goodbye from the train are Mike Vogelbach, Rick Nopper, Ted Meiers, Dick Nachazel, Mark Bassett, Rod Tomczak and Jim CaJacob.

In our quest for knowledge, we must seize upon every opportunity to achieve that end. One phase of our search, which unfortunately, is not afforded every student at St. Francis, is an attempt to broaden our cultural background. St. Francis has been most conscious of this and for this reason, has initiated a foreign study program. Our students are sent to Ecole St. Michel at Annecy, France and Overbach, Germany.

This program gives our students an opportunity to study the languages, customs and cultural background of France and Germany and, therefore, gain a greater appreciation of these great nations. The students who went to Europe this year are: Mark Bassett, Jim CaJacob, Ted Meiers, Dick Nachazel, Rick Nopper, Rod Tomczak, and Mike Vogelbach.

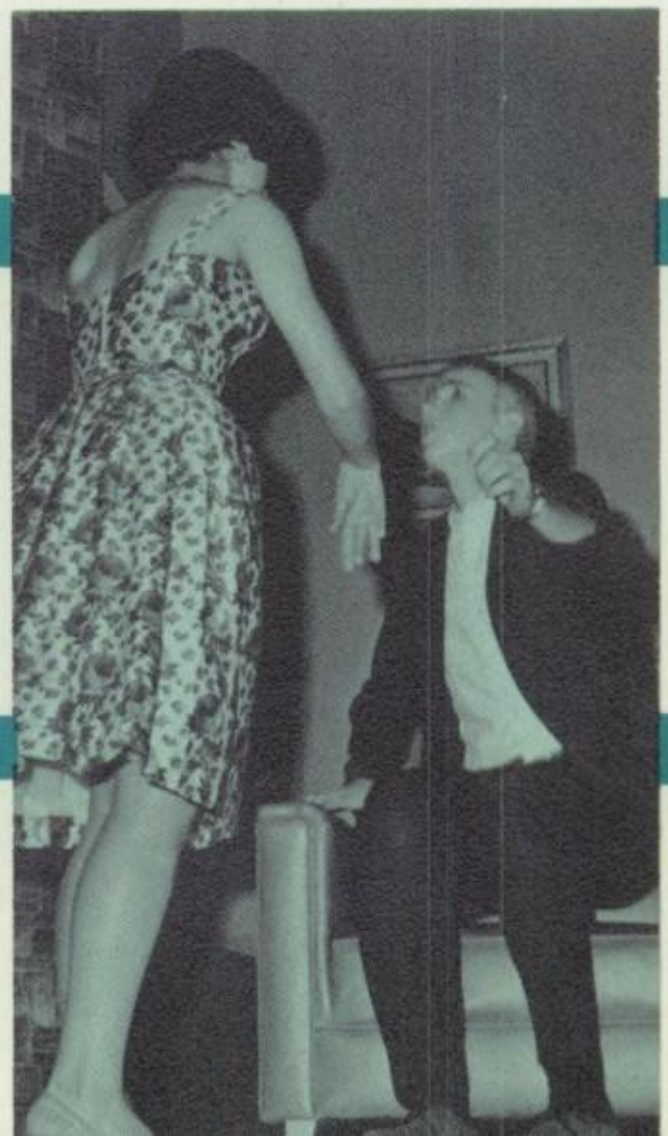
Activities Intrigue Students

Provide outlet for initiative, leadership and use of newly acquired knowledge

The quiet that reigns from 8:25 until 2:35 is suddenly broken with the shrill sound of the dismissal bell. Doors open and, still filled with zest, boys rush for lockers, but not all. Many hasten to other rooms where they will engage in extra – class activities; some to bury themselves in rubber cement, copy and pictures in the Accolade and Lance rooms; others to the stage to make scenery and rehearse their lines; others to the band room to blow a mean trumpet.

Then evening comes and our boys branch out socially. They come to the school dances in the gym, dressed in their Sunday best. as modern knights to be at their lady's beck and call.

This is the time when knowledge acquired in class is put to use. These activities are a vital part of the Oblate philosophy of education – to educate the whole man. It is here experienced to the fullest, the challenge that knowledge presents to the minds of our youth.



Zapletal Conducts Band in "Blues on Parade"

Snappy jazz and sweet music are result of long hours of practice

Band practice starts not after school, but on hot summer days; not short hours, but long ones. This is Mr. Zapletal's formula for success. From a small group of 14 boys in 1959 has evolved an outstanding aggregation of 68 members attired in red and blue uniforms.

Mr. Zapletal's boys have a strenuous schedule, what with practice every day after school. The half-time show at the football games demand much time because of the intricate patterns. The boys play at the basketball games, relays and special occasions. Their crowning achievement is their spring concert 'Blues on Parade."

The front row of the band shows Carl Radon, Gene Kratsma, Andy Walko, and Charles Malin playing at the Christmas songfest.

Charles Malin, the leprechaun, scoots in and out of the sax section of the band at half-time show.

Gathered in the band room for summer practice are: C. Radon, S. Robertson, D. Manning, M. Eschrich, J. Norton, M. Owanski, J. Siwajek, L. Whately, J. Domalski, M. Matell, B. Evers, R. Magers, C. Malin, C. Benda, C. Norris, T. Criss, and J. Hoffman.

During time out at a football game, Ron Couturier gets directions from Mr. Zapletal as Father Fitzpatrick and Gary Mittendorf look on.

Members of the band chat in the parking lot. They are: Ron Couturier, Jim Granecki, Tom Criss and Carl Radon.

"Send Me No Flowers" Tickles Audience

John Mallin as hypochondriac, wins audience in Broadway hit

In her own authoritative way, Judy discusses his health problem with her husband.

Seeking consolation is his imaginary illness, George Kimball (John Mallin) turns to his loving wife (Kathy Lenga).

Judy Kimball (Kathy Lenga) in a flashback, imagines herself assisting Dr. Morrissey in an operation on her husband, George.

With a drink in hand, Arnold Nash (Tom Troup) neighbor and friend, tells George not to worry about his health.

Slightly disturbed, Judy ponders over her husband's condition while Bert Powe (Elton Gogolin) attempts to encourage George.

With eagerness, Mr. Atkins (John Madigan) tries to sell ailing George a family burial plot.

With the departure of Father Dean for Alexandria, Virginia the question arose in the minds of many followers of St. Francis, "What is going to happen to St. Francis' excellent reputation in the field of dramatics earned under the outstanding direction of Father Dean?" This perplexing question was answered on December the sixth. Within ten minutes after the opening curtain St. Francis' reputation remained intact and Father Marran emerged as a most competent replacement. "Send Me No Flowers", a hit comedy on Broadway, did it. Long hours of rehearsal under the patient and skillful direction of Father Marran brought another hit to St. Francis.

"Send Me No Flowers" is the story of a hypochondriac, George Kimball, played by John Mallin, who through a misunderstanding though he was going to die. Because of this he did not lose his life but nearly lost his wife. Kathy Lenga, from St. Ursula Academy, beautifully handled the part of the beleagured wife, Judy. Others giving excellent support to the leads were Elton Gogolin, Thomas Troup, John Madigan, Charles Seiz, Timothy Desmond and Debbie Diethelm, also of St. Ursula Academy.

Accolade staff at work: Bill McCully, moderator Father Earley, Bill Pedee, Jim Kittle, and Tom Taylor.

There is a sign on the door of the yearbook room. Its message — Authorized Personnel Only — often confounds the uninitiated. Lights are visible in this tiny cubicle at all hours and strange sounds often emit from it. Then are laughs when someone suggests a funny cutline, sighs when headlines won't fit, sobs when it seems that deadlines will never be met — all with the background music of WTOL-FM.

For the yearbook staff, the room holds a different kind of mystery. It is a world of pictures, writeups, and layouts from which a book must be produced. One realizes the enormity of this task when one enters the room. There are papers all over, pasteups cover the shelves, and here and there, one of Father Earley's pipes is visible. Each year, the staff labors to fashion all this material into another Accolade.

The members of the staff of the 1965 Accolade were: Bill Pedee, editor-in-chief; Bill McCully, associate editor; Jim Kittle and Tom Taylor, copy editors; Dave Schlaudecker, photography editor; Darrell Creque, and Peter Ujvagi, assistant; and Father Daniel Earley, moderator.

Writing cutlines is no easy job. Pondering the problems are Bill McCully, Tom Taylor, Jim Kittle, and Bill Pedee.

The discussion is concerned with copy for the next issue of The Lance. The members are: Tom Extejit, Bill Witt, Dave Witt, Dan Sydlowski, Father Hermley, Dave Schlaudecker and Larry Sheets.

School Paper Is Strong Voice of Student Body

Lance is eagerly awaited by student body

After shooting his assignment, Dave Schlaudecker, staff photographer, helps Dave Witt, Bill Witt and Pat Peters choose pictures for The Lance.

Checking to see that they do not repeat themselves, Larry Sheets and Jim Johnessee, co-editors-in-chief, consult with Father Hermley, moderator.

Father Hermley scurrying down the corridor toward the typing room, photographers rushing into the dark room, staff members rushing about with copy in their hands — all these are unmistakable signs that another issue of The Lance is rapidly approaching the deadline.

It has always been the policy of The Lance to present facts together with thought-provoking articles that would stimulate the minds of the entire student body and sometimes even the faculty. As a result, everyone clamors for The Lance as soon as word gets around that the paper is off the press. One of the most interesting columns, "Ever Upward", is written by Deane Nelson.

Our paper, published eight times a year, is under the direction of Co-editors, James Johnesee and Lawrence Sheets; News Editors, Dan Sydlowski and Pat Wright; Sports Editors, Pat Peters and Bill Witt and Editorial Editor, Thomas Extejt.

At this solemn ceremony one hundred and one st dents,—twenty six from the senior class and twenty five fro each of the underclasses, were received into the Collegiu Honorum, the school's honor society. This society, a cha ter of the National Honor Society for juniors and senior is the goal of most students at St. Francis. To win a honor patch is equivalent to receiving a varsity letter sports. The top eleven seniors were awarded honor blaze – gray jackets with the honor emblem on the top le pocket. This was in recognition of exceptional scholast achievement over a four year period – four years of ha work.

This year's guest speaker was Dr. J. Carroll Mooc of the history department of the University of Toledo. his excellent talk he stressed the vast increase in knowled and the necessity of keeping abreast of new knowledge our great society.

Student Council fosters many student activities

Clubs are an important facet of our system of education. Along with academic and athletic endeavors, they are intended for the development of the entire man. They foster, not only good fellowship, but also develop a spirit of sacrifice. These clubs afford ample opportunity for developing leadership, applying newly acquired knowledge to a great extent toward one's personal development and, also, that of the school. Of the organizations open the student body, the only one which is elective is Council. Perhaps the most active of our clubs is that of newly formed JETS — Junior Engineering Techn Society — under Mr. Bowsher. Who plasters the with those catchy posters? Our school gym experiences a varied life — gym classes, basketball, wrestling, tennis, plays and meetings. But come evening, we often hear the sounds of sweet saxaphone, a muted trumpet. This means only one thing — a student dance is in progress. In our constant search for knowledge, we realize that our social life is an important phase of this development. At our dances we learn more fully the spirit of communication and the social graces which are so important today.

All our social events come under the supervision of the Student Council, carefully directed by Father Healy in the background. Fall found us at the Homecoming Dance. In winter it was usually the Friday or Saturday night hop, then the New Year's Eve Dance and St. Valentine's Dance. Parents Dance to Sweet Music of Guy Lombard

Brisson men, with Golden Knight Ball, sponsor social event of year

Once again our parents and guests flocked to the Sports Arena to hear the fabulous Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians. The guests were met by two pirates who escorted them into "Treasure Island," the theme of the Golden Knight Ball. The arena was transformed into a South Sea Island, replete with swaying palms, driftwood and treasure chests. This was the climax of a year of strenuous work on the part of loyal Brisson men.

These men who work so hard for St. Francis have seen pass a series of interesting and profitable events. They started with the DeVilbiss and Central football smokers and Freshman and College Nights. Funarama, February 20-21, was carnival time at St. Francis. There were always Wednesday nights—physical fitness for the "fat fathers." This program not only kept the men in good physical condition, but proved to be a most pleasant get-together.

Chappuis Society Produces Melody in Fashion

Mothers work diligently and tirelessly for St. Francis

Ski clothes are shown in the winter scene in the Swiss Alps.

The Chappuis Society's many projects again this year proved to be most successful. The annual fashion show started the year off with Melody in Fashion. The Hard Times Dance, always popular, was again well attended and a gay time was had by all. Funarama, a joint venture with the Brisson Association, was tremendously received by the many friends of St. Francis. The St. Patrick's Day Dance was the biggest ever this year with the "Earley Show" being the hit of the most enjoyable evening.

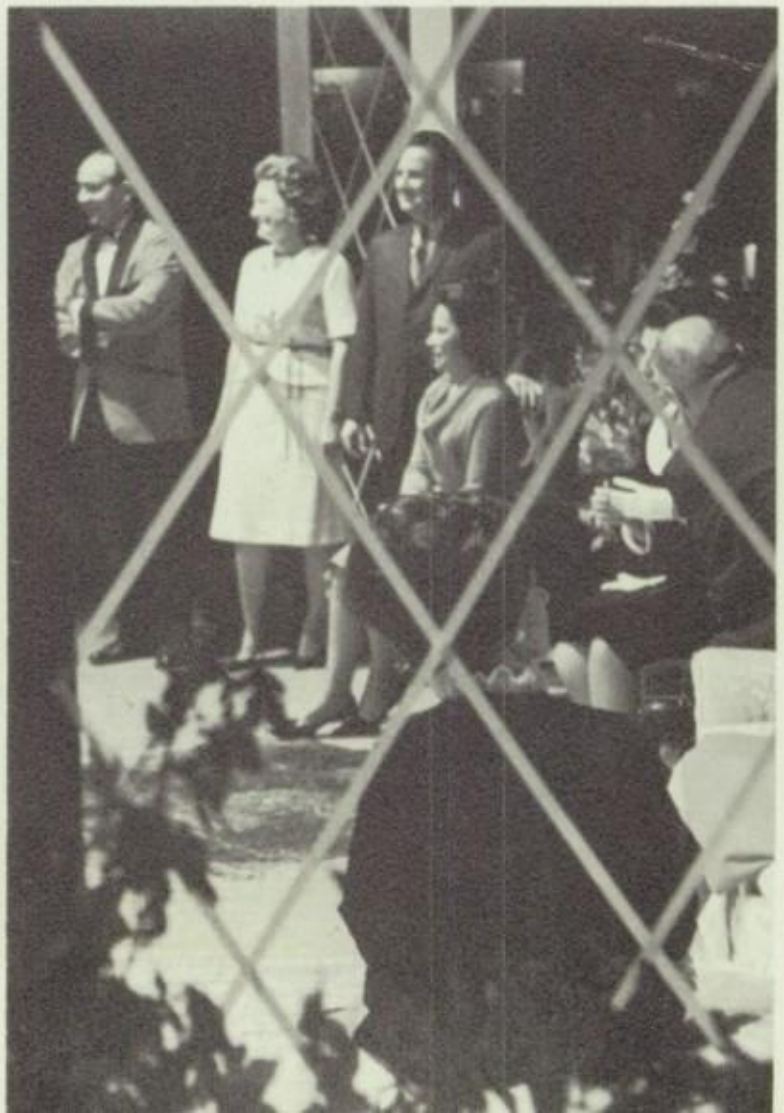
Moderated by Father Earley, the Chappuis Society's main objective is to help promote Catholic education at St. Francis. The officers that most capably headed the Society this year were: Mrs. Carl Reidy, president; Mrs. Bernard Rinehart, vice president; Mrs. Martin Oess, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Richard Moore, recording secretary; Mrs. Eugene Extejt, treasurer and Mrs. Francis Duffy, assistant treasurer.

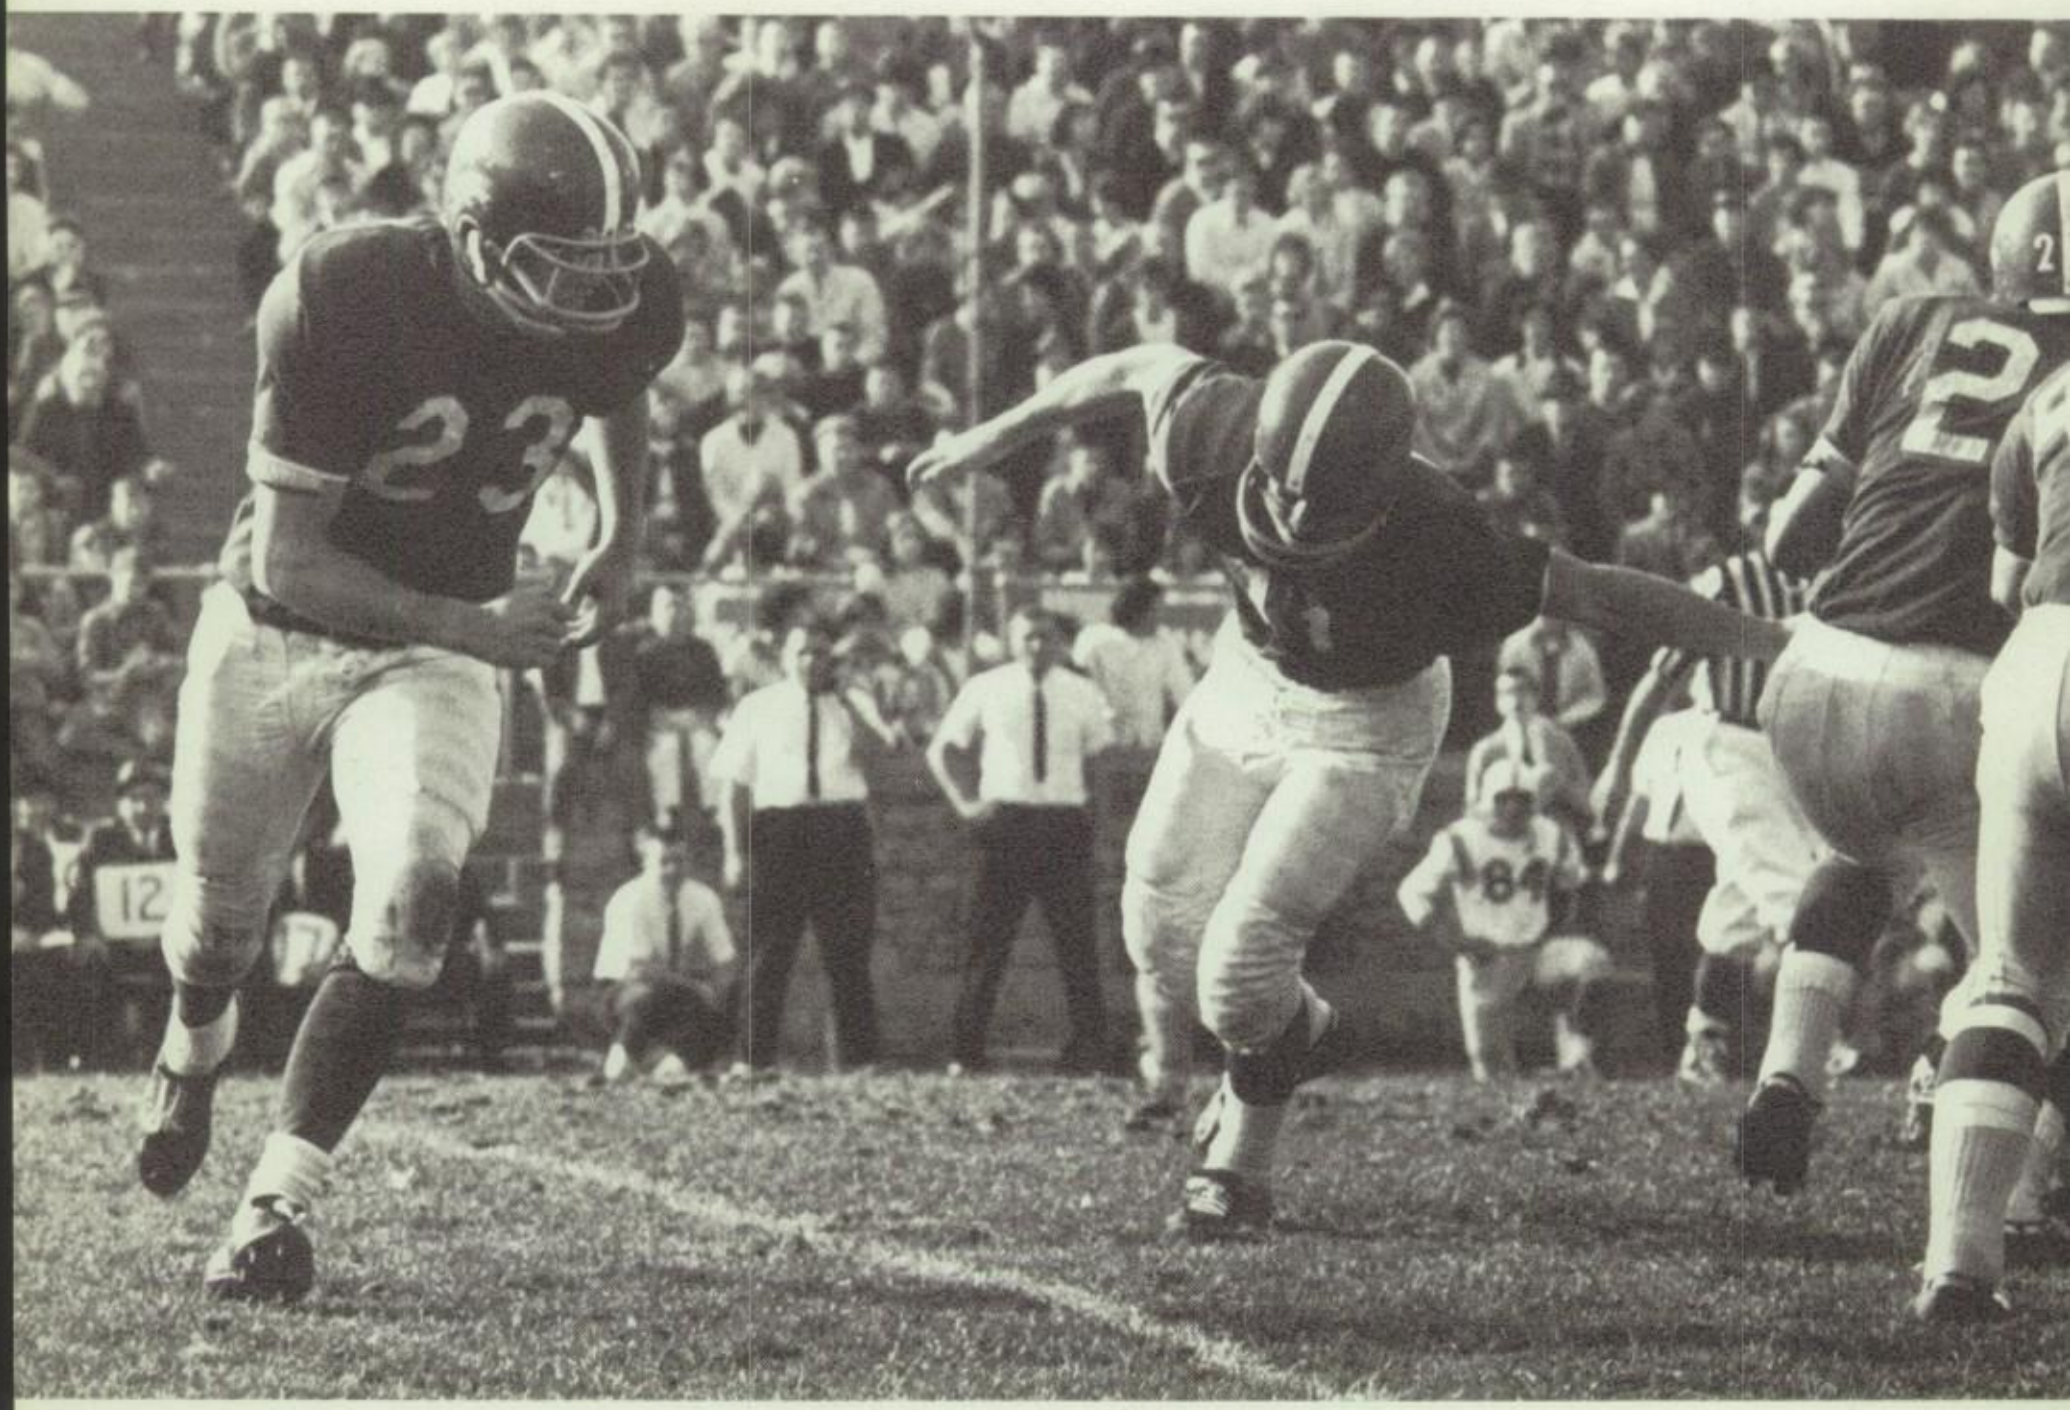
A lull in the fashion show pictures Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Westhoven and Mrs. Bargmann preparing the next scene.

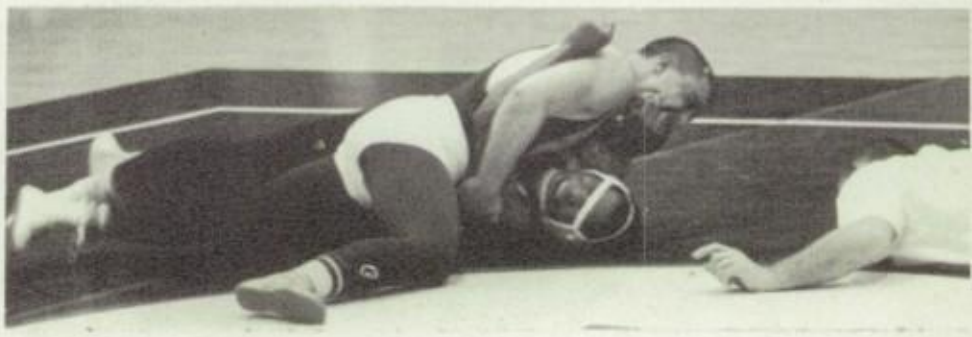
Last minute planning for a Chappuis project finds Mrs. Reidy, Mrs. Kumor, Mrs. Exejt, Mrs. Preas and Mrs. Oess in the library.

It is certainly obvious that a gay time was had at the St. Patrick's Dance.

"Christmas at Home" was the title of the last scene in Melody in Fashion.







Athletics Increase Knowledge

Present day sports present challenge to youths' minds and bodies

When the bell rings signaling the end of the last class, classroom doors open and students rush for their lockers. Then they head either for home or the gym lockers. They go from a world of learning — the classrooms — into a world of barbells, sweaty shirts, liniment, rolls of adhesive tape, all against a loud shouting background of young exuberant voices. But this, too, is a world of learning, a challenge to young minds for it is another phase of our educational system.

Would it not seem that knowledge as a challenge to men's minds would not apply when one considers sports? But strange to say, it does. Just as great strides have been made in other fields or endeavor in our American way of life so, too, in sports. Gone are the days of brute strength and agility. Today, these are not sufficient. This is clearly seen in football and basketball — intricate plays which require not only strength, agility and skill, but also knowledge of the complicated patterns, committing them to memory and executing them properly. We can indeed say that even in sports knowledge is the challenge to men's minds.

Coach Mattingly Guides Green Team to Successful Season

Outstanding sophomores give sparkle to winning team

The bright lights of the Lucas County Recreation Center beamed through the September dusk. Hundreds of spectators arrived and, abandoning the cars and buses which had brought them, streamed into the stands for the opening football game of the St. Francis season. The crowd anticipated a hard-fought gridiron encounter between the Craftsmen of Macomber High School and our 1964 Knights. On both sides of the field, hopes were high. The Macmen were pre-season favorites to win the City League Championship while St. Francis supporters remembered last year's powerful team and its 27-0 victory over Macomber.

The opening kickoff came and, after 24 minutes of bruising football, the Knights led 6-0. In the second half, St. Francis' defense held the Craftsmen scoreless until the closing moments of the game. Macomber connected on a pass and tied the score. Their try for extra points was blocked and the final score was 6-6.

Macomber went on to become 1964 City League Champions and were never beaten or tied again in the league.

St. Francis went on to its second fine year of City League football. Led by Karl Pankratz, junior fullback, the Knights compiled a 4-1-2 league record and an overall record of 5-2-2. Victories were over Waite, Scott, Bowsher, Start and Cardinal Stritch. Losses were to DeVilbiss and Central with ties against Macomber and Libbey.

On a keeper play, Marty Huff breaks into the Macomber secondary.

City Championship Taken by Knights

St. Francis, dark horse, runs wild in city league

The football season had barely ended when the Knights of the Hardwood rode into their first battle of the season at Macomber. No one was sure what the game or the season would be like. Coach Vigh had said: "I just don't know how good we really are." At the end of the game, the Craftsmen had some idea of our potential. They had seen us come from behind to defeat them by a point. DeVilbiss got a better idea the next week when we defeated them on our home floor. As the Knights entered the lists against Libbey, rumor spread that perhaps we were "the team to beat." After we rolled to a 15-point victory over the Cowboys, the rumor was a fact. We were in first place in the City League, having defeated the three pre-season favorites

After six straight victories we lost to Macomber, the favorite, then defeated DeVilbiss, and conquering Libbey 43-49 gave us the city title.

There were three factors which gave us our fine (15-5) season: defense, scoring balance, and spirit. The half-court press installed by Coach Vigh resulted in a number of turnovers by the opposition. Each member of the team was able to score and when one had a poor night, another took up the slack. The most important part of our victory plan, however, was spirit. The team had confidence in itself and its will to win spread to the student body. It was spirit that put us on even terms with the many taller teams we had to play.

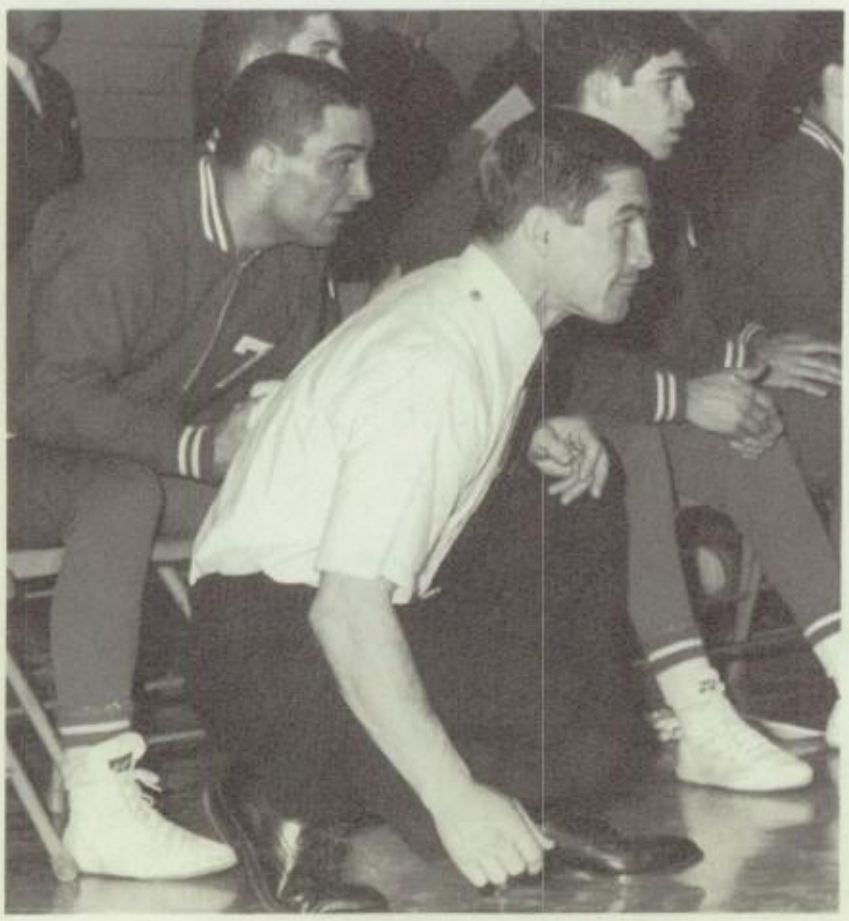
District Champions Run Winning Streak to 44

Leffler's matmen take city crown

With looks of deep concentration, Coach Leffler, Jim Westhoven, and Tom Sargent watch mat contest against Scott.



Four years ago when the Class of '65 first entere St. Francis, a streak was begun. This streak has continue up to the present and now stands at 44 straight wins. Thu the Class of '65 has witnessed four consecutive unbeate wrestling teams.

This year's wrestling team was no different from th rest. After sweeping through its regular schedule an taking its second straight city title, the grapplers went o to the sectionals, where eight boys qualified for furth action. In the regionals, St. Francis took first place an qualified four matmen for the state tournament. The fou Tom Greenwood, Dick Meyer, Fred Mattera, and Ji Westhoven, all won championships in their individu weight classes.

Coach Dick Leffler's team did well in the state cha pionship at Columbus. Although Tom Greenwood, defen ing state champ at 103 lbs., and Fred Mattera were d feated early in the tournament, the Knights went on take fourth place. Dick Meyer won the state crown 112 lbs. and Jim Westhoven finished second at 145 lb.

Anderson Wins State Chess Title

Bowling team in contention for city championship

The St. Francis chess team just completed another fine season. Coached by Brother Barry Robinson, the Morphy Division tem finished in third place with a record of seven wins, one loss and one tie. A 5-3-1 record gave the Marshall Division team a fourth place. In the Blade Tournament the Knights placed second. The highpoint of the season came in the state tournament when Bob Anderson, a junior, won the state championship.

The echo of flying pins signaled the beginning of another bowling season. Father Healy was not sure just how good the teams were. When the season was over the American League team found itself in fourth place with 35 wins and 19 losses. The National League team finished third with 41 wins and 13 losses. Then came the city tournament. With our leading bowler, Joe Schneider (average of 179) we found ourselves in the finals bowling for the city championship.

The school corridors thunder with the sound of running feet. The track team is practicing under the eagle eye of Father McKenna.

The 1965 edition of the track team is still under wraps, literally. The unseasonably cold weather with snow and ice has kept the team indoors. Mr. Guitteau herds his fieldmen into the gym and Father McKenna heads the trackmen into the corridors. Returning lettermen are: Vic Bukowski, hurdles; John Croci and Dave Billick, field events; Ron Ziolkowski, broad jump; Denny Brown, sprints; Jack Williams and Jim Lehner, distance runs; Fred Mattera, pole vault; and Tom Troup, 440.

The future for baseball looks very bright. The team is young with only three seniors on it. Although young, it played together last year and posted a fair season. In the words of Coach Mattingly, "If our pitching comes through, we're made."

District and City Champs in Golf and Tenni

What is good form? Don Chmielewski and Bill Greenen watch Chuck Emmenecker demonstrate proper form.

It is an early and cold spring day as Bob Rochelle follows his tee shot.

This is the first day outside for the tennis team at Jermain Park.

Last year, under Father Komorowski, the St. Francis golf team went undefeated in league play to win the City and District Championship. The team went on to finish eleventh in the state with Chuck Emmenecker finishing fifth. This year, the Knights are favored to repeat as District Champs and have a good chance in the state tournament. Returning to the team this year are All-City golfers Bob Reece, Chuck Emmenecker and Mike Curtin, together with lettermen Chuck Lautzenheiser, Bob Rochelle and Ted Oatis.

As for tennis, the picture looks brighter than ever. We have always had fine tennis teams under the tutelage of Father Hermley. This, once again, should be our year. With practically the same team that won the city championship last year returning, we should successfully defend our title, especially with addition of two excellent players, Bob and Jim Faught. The team has been practicing in the school gym whenever it has been available and, as a result, should not be hampered by lack of outdoor practice due to a very, very late spring. It is interesting to note that part of the team consists of three sets of brothers, the Zanns, Faughts and the Groskopfs.

Classmen Strive for Maturity

From freshman to senior year

they advance in age and seek knowledge

When we see a little freshman, identified by his dink, wandering around the school as though lost, we ask ourselves what will be the net result of his four years at St. Francis.

A young boy of fourteen is in a world of his own. He is impressionable, fearful. Because he is attempting to stand on his own two feet, because he is leaving his childish environment and entering into a man's world he is insecure. He is faced with new languages, sciences, new approaches to a rapidly changing world. No wonder he acts strangely! Realizing this, the Oblates, using the principles advanced by St. Francis over three hundred years ago, exert a steadying influence upon these students. This influence applies not only to one class, but permeates the entire school from the moment gay young voices and clanging lockers signal the beginning of school until, wearied from study and athletic endeavors and burdened down with books the last students leaves the school and heads for home. He enters the darkness of night, his way home lit by pale street lights and the rapidly moving line of headlights. Thus ends another day at St. Francis.

Successful Season

The school band warms up before departing for one of our football games.

Graduation Is a Stepping Stone to Knowledg

Four years of study give a deeper insight into the mystery of knowledge

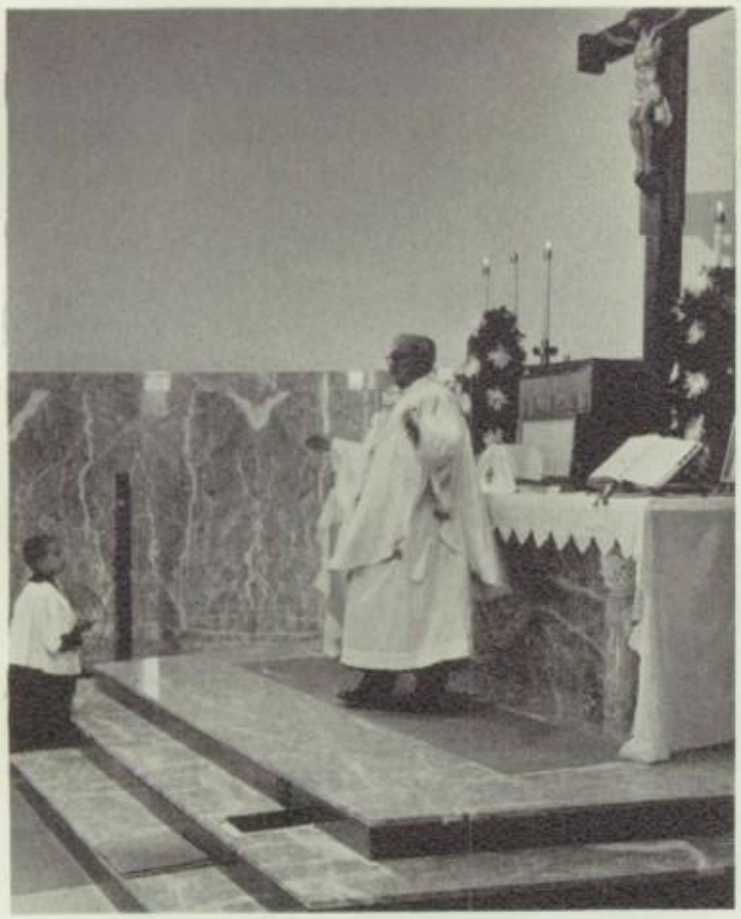
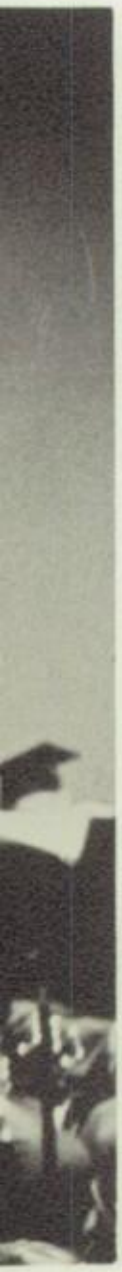
The graduates march to Gesu Church for the Baccalaureate Mass.

The culmination of four years of study — a graduate receives his diploma from Bishop Rehring assisted by Father Shugrue.



Father Shugrue celebrates Mass for the graduates.

The graduating class listens to the graduation speaker.



We have reached the end of our four years at St. Francis. In keeping with our theme, we leave St. Francis with all its pleasant memories — our first days when, as freshmen, laden down with books, we stumbled down the corridors looking for the right classroom; the exciting football games which we left, voiceless from cheering; the interesting and entertaining English classes of Father Fisher; the dances we attended where lasting friendships began; Funarama and the candy sales; the yearly retreat when we withdrew into ourselves and came out better young men; the influence of the Oblates and their Salesian Spirit which has left a lasting impression on our way of life.

In our four years at St. Francis we have consciously, and sometimes even unconsciously, sought knowledge, the mystery of life, the mystery of being, of our own existence and our destiny. All these mysteries have driven us to know — to seek knowledge. We have learned so well that knowledge is love — it is the divine spark which makes us achieve the full measure of our being. We were created to be God's partner in working out our own destiny in freedom. It is our hope that we, as young men leaving the portals of St. Francis, have set foot on the path that will lead us and all mankind to the supreme height of knowledge and love — God!

A partial view of the relatives and friends who attended the graduation.

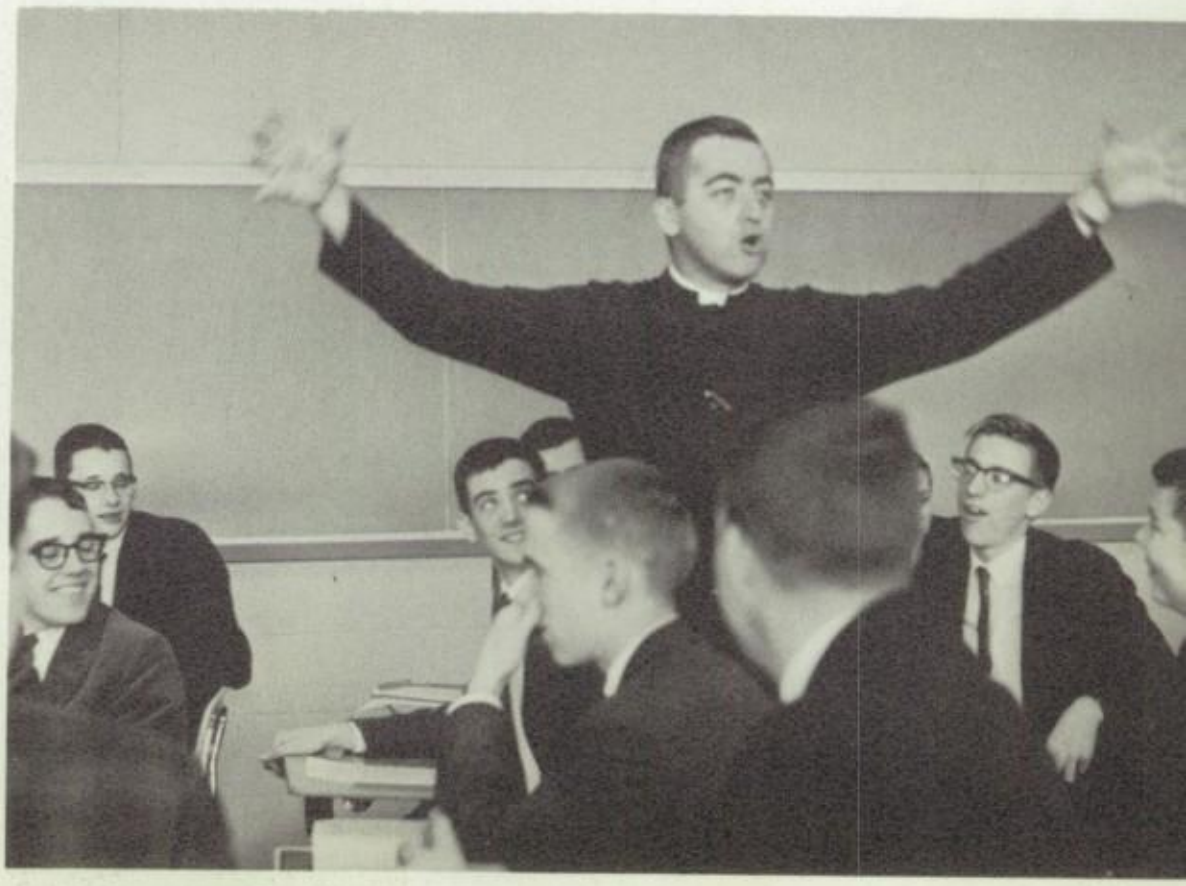
As though he were ready to take off, Father McMenamin stresses a point in Juni English.



Our annual retreat closes with an address by Father Tye following Mass offered for victims of the tornado.

No, the subject is not Communism, but European history! Father Hermley assists one of the students to find a name on the map in history class.

The Mystery of Knowledge Still Remains

From the rising of the sun to the going down of the same

We opened the first page of our book with the sun coming up over the trees. We have seen the sun rise and set hundreds of times. It will continue to do so. This immutable law of nature constantly reminds us of the power of God, and the mystery of knowledge. Just as the sun will continue to rise so, also, will that mystery of knowledge continue to lure us as did the Sirens in Greek mythology. We certainly will continue to uncover new phenomena, but the more we discover, that much more do we realize how small we are and just how little we know. But as the sun continues to send its rays into space so, too, must we continue to seek knowledge. The mystery of knowledge will only be solved in discovering the source of that mystery – God.
